HEARST IN T. C. PLATT'S TOWN.

COLDLY RECEIVED BY THE TIOGA COUNTY FARMERS.

They Listen to His Flery Talk in Almost Dead Silence—Enthusiastic Reception. Accorded the Candidate in Binghamton, Where He Makes Two Speeches.

OWEGO, Oct. 13.—A combination Democratic-Independence League meeting was held here in the open air at noon to-day, William R. Hearst being the principal speaker. In an effort to profit by the squale like among Tioga county Republicans the Hearst people and the regular Democrats got together and planned for a big demonstration. They got a fair crowd, but only the ghost of a demonstration. The village band tooted manfully, but the Tioga farmers who came into Owego to see "what kind of a fellow this Hearst is, anyhow," were not stirred up much. They listened attentively to Mr. Hearst as he whacked the railing of the stand with his bare fist, stamped his feet and whirled his arms, giving the trusts fits and reading old time Democrats out of the party, but they listened in almost dead silence. Mr. Hearst's flery phrases seemed to bounce off their heads. It was easily apparent that their interest was in the man himself rather than in his theories.

Mr. Hearst came to Owego on a gem of an autumn day. The flurries of snow and blasts of wintry winds had whistled out of this part of the State. Clean, invigorating weather and a warm sun made the meeting here a pleasant contrast to the others on the trip. Mr. Hearst's special train got here at about 8:30 o'clock this morning from Ithaca. The hard working Owego band wakened the candidate, played him out of his pajamas, played him through breakfast and played him to the meeting.

The speechmaking was held in Court House Square, a pretty part of smooth lawn and old elm trees, in which is set a noble battle monument, Tioga county's memorial to its soldiers of the civil war. The stand was filled with Democrats and Leaguers. John Ford, Clarence J. Shearn and William S. Jackson, who will accompany Mr. Hearst on part of this trip, made speeches before Mr. Hearst got there. When the candidate appeared there was applause from the stand and from the crowd. Mr. Hearst was introduced by Michael J. Murray, chairman of the Tioga county Democratic committee. Mr. Hearst made the same speech he has used at most up-State meetings. He assured the crowd that he desired merely to give them a representative government and a clean house at Albany. He attacked the corporations and said:

"Not all of you together as one man like John D. Rockefeller, a Morgan or a Ryan." He asked them to lay aside party loyalty and vote for what they thought was right. He shook hands with dozens of sympathizers and returned to his car, where he remained until his train started for Binghamton. At the depot here a bunch of Cascadilla Preparatory School boys, on their way to Binghamton to play football, gave him a cheer. Mr. Hearst waved his hand from his car, but smilingly declined to talk.

BIG CROWDS CHEER HEARST AT BINGHAMTON.

BINGHAMTON, Oct. 13.—Binghamton Democrats and Independence Leaguers gave William R. Hearst an enthusiastic reception to-night. Mr. Hearst addressed two meetings, one in Princess rink, where he talked to 1,300 people, and the other in the Northside rink, where he talked to about 1,500 people. Mr. Hearst was met at the Lackawanna depot by a delegation of Democrats and Independence League men. A big crowd was waiting for the candidate's train. As soon as the wheels stopped turning men boarded the train and swarmed through the cars yelling for Hearst and exploding cheers. The train crew tried to block the invasion, but the excited Hearstites swept through the train till they got to Mr. Hearst's state car. He was fairly mobbed for a few minutes, but finally local committeemen persuaded the crowd to clear out and give the candidate breathing space.

It was far and away the warmest greeting Mr. Hearst has received in entering any town since he started his up-State campaigning, and a pleasing contrast to the candidate with the usual dull, indifferent dozen or so of platform loafers who hadn't enough ginger to raise a cheer. First among the Hearst men to shake hands with the candidate was an old man with a long white beard. It was Major C. H. Hochkiss, who enlisted the Independence League convention in Carnegie Hall in New York city by stripping off his coat and vest, dropping his suspenders over his hips and leading the Broom county delegation with frantic cheers. Elijah H. they called him at the convention. Others that met Mr. Hearst were John Hull, Jr., John Ring and John P. Hays, Democrats, and John F. Freeman, F. A. Day and Dr. C. S. Decker, Independence League leaders.

The mixed committee took Mr. Hearst to the Democratic headquarters at the Arlington Hotel, where the candidate held a short reception. At the Arlington Hotel Mr. Hearst was assured that he would get a big vote in Binghamton and in Broom county. William W. Farley, Democratic county chairman, has lined up his party. Mr. Hearst was informed, and has it working smoothly with the local Independence League. He was told also that of the 1,000 union labor workmen in Binghamton, perhaps 90 per cent. are pledged to vote for him. Hearst supporters here make no attempt to conceal the fact that hundreds of conservative Democrats will knife the candidate, voting squarely for Hughes.

The meetings here to-night had been well advertised, with the result that the streets were crowded and real interest manifested. A band paraded between the two halls and cheers for Hearst ran up and down the streets. The first meeting was held in Princess Rink. Benajah S. Curran, a Democrat, presided, and the meeting was held under the auspices of the Broom county Democratic organization. The hall was completely filled. Clarence J. Shearn started the speechmaking. When he got through the crowd demanded Hearst, but there was no Hearst. He was an hour late, and perhaps 200 people, tired of waiting, left the hall. William S. Jackson followed Shearn and the faithful band followed Jackson. Things were getting to a critical stage when Hearst's carriage rolled up and the candidate pushed through the crowd. He was cheered with a will and interrupted frequently with bursts of applause. At Princess Hall Mr. Hearst said in part:

My friends: The corporation candidate of the corporation party has said that "there is a great deal of loose talk about people and that there is an attempt to focus attention upon the alleged wrongs in this country." He has further suggested that I go home and quietly go about my business until the people demand my candidacy.

Now, my friends, I am willing, and even anxious, to go home and attend to my business if, as Mr. Hughes says, there is merely loose talk about wrongs and there are merely alleged wrongs. But I think the wrongs the people suffer under are real, and it is the hope that I may be able to do something to correct those wrongs that has caused me to conduct my newspaper crusades and assist in this arduous political campaign.

I am sure if Abraham Lincoln were here to-day he would stand with us in our battle against the misuse of power and wealth by the corporate autocracy of our day, even as he opposed the un-American arrogance of the slaveholding aristocracy of his day.

A man who says he is a Republican but is unwilling to support a sincere effort to restore to government the people, by the people and for the people is not a Republican according to the principles of Abraham Lincoln, founder of the Republican party.

Lincoln wrote as follows in November, 1862, and Mr. Hughes might, he pleases, call these solemn words Lincoln said some talk from Lincoln on alleged wrongs: "Corporations have been enthroned and an era of corruption in high places will follow; and the people will have to repent of the wrongs of the people until all wealth is aggregated in a few hands and the republic destroyed. I feel at this moment more anxious than ever that the people should ever break, even in the midst of war, God grant that my suspicions may prove groundless."

Now, my friends, it rests with us, and particularly with you Lincoln Republicans, whether the republic be destroyed or whether it be perpetuated along the principles on which it was founded. There is no reason why Lincoln Republicans should not unite with Jefferson Democrats in this campaign for popular rights, since all the corporation Democrats have gone over to join the corporation Republicans in the effort to protect their special privileges.

HEARST'S IDEA OF REGULARITY

FIGHTING TO BEAT DEMOCRACY IN CALIFORNIA.

Has Put Up a Third Candidate in Hope of Electing a Republican Governor—Bitterly Attacks Democratic Nominee in His Papers and Boasts His Opponent.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—William R. Hearst has not only belted the regular Democratic nominee for Governor in California, but he actually nominated, through his personal influence, William B. Langdon as the candidate of the Independence League and he has used the influence of his two papers to boom Langdon and to throw discredit on Bell.

So vicious have been his attacks on Bell that the latter came out in an open letter scolding Hearst for his unfair methods and denouncing him as a menace to the cause of union labor that he claims to espouse.

The day after Bell was nominated the Examiner in a leading editorial, after comparing Gillett, the Republican candidate, and Langdon, the Independence League candidate, said of Bell:

"There is a so-called third candidate in the field, a harm less young man with an inordinate ambition to run for office, Theodore A. Bell. He was put into the race by Hearst, assisted by Sub-Boss McNab and Ruff, in the hope of defeating Langdon and electing Gillett."

Again, the Examiner said:

"The choice of the people lies between Langdon and Gillett. Whatever Mr. Bell may think about his candidacy, everybody who is acquainted with political conditions knows that he was nominated to elect Gillett. The man who controlled the Democratic convention at Sacramento was the same Herrin who controlled the Republican convention at Santa Cruz."

HEARST A TRAITOR IN CHICAGO.

Organizes the "Jama" in an Effort to Beat the Regular Democracy.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Hearst and his newspapers are not Democratic in Illinois. Mayor Dunne of Chicago is intensely and regularly Democratic in this city, but declares himself as vociferously for Hearst in New York.

This condition is anomalous, but strangely true. Mayor Dunne came to the parting of the ways last summer. He had been a Hearst Democrat, and his administration had derived its whole inspiration from the Hearst Chicago papers.

Andy Lawrence, the editor of Hearst's Chicago Examiner, had been the Mayor's closest confidant, the man who had his ear. But the Democratic convention of Cook county was dominated by the anti-Hearst faction; by the forces of former Mayor Harrison, by Loeffler, by Roger Sullivan, by John P. Hopkins, foes of Hearst and of Dunne. They wrote the platform and they named the nominees.

For a moment Dunne wavered. The next moment he dived into the regular camp. He was the plagiarized David Bell. He was a Democrat, and deserted the man who had most helped his nomination and election a year and a half ago.

Andy Lawrence and Hearst's papers promptly repudiated the regular Democracy, denounced the majority that had ruled the convention and vilified the ticket from top to bottom.

The Independence League here, instigated by Hearst and said to be financed by Hearst, has set forth a complete ticket from State Treasurer down to court bailiffs. The Independence League in Chicago, for its amounts to no more than a Chicago organization, is an amalgam of various protests. It lacks a personal leader, as Hearst is in New York. It lacks a cause, as its factors believe in several different causes. What it represents is simply Hearst, who failed to rule and therefore will attempt to ruin the Democracy party.

One of its constituent elements are the ultra immediate Municipal Ownershipers, who are displeased with Dunne's vacillation. The labor unionists are another. Still another factor are the radicals and Socialists.

A progressive alliance ticket, whatever that may mean, while a large portion of its supporters are enrolled in the Independence League. The league paper pays salaries to its executive officers, who are mostly ex-labor leaders. The league's money is Hearst's money.

T. P. Quinn, an alleged labor leader, is one of the most virulent denouncers of Mayor Dunne. He says Dunne is a traitor to municipal ownership. He wants Dunne to turn his back on office and build up a machine for municipal ownership. Dunne refuses; he believes in the triumph of ideas. Quinn and his followers denounce a chance at the public crib, have joined Hearst and his league.

The nebulous factor of the Independence League is the Independent Hearst following. That following may or may not be enlarged by the present following of the Hearst newspapers; but that following the support by nobody to be as large in Chicago as it is in New York. Chicago is a sight too respectable.

ORGANIZE A HEARST BLIND.

His Leaders in Westchester Form a "Big Stick" Party to Catch Republicans.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 13.—The Hearst leaders in Westchester, having found that the nomination of their candidate is turning thousands of Democrats away from the support of the party, have organized what they call the "Big Stick" party. To deceive the supporters of the party they are trying to make it appear that President Roosevelt is behind this movement and that the new organization is to be composed of independent Republicans. The entire ticket which they have endorsed is made up of the Hearst nominees for Supreme Court Justice and legislative and county offices. The headquarters of the movement is in Yonkers.

Many who have signed the petition for the independent nominations are Italians employed on the Yonkers city works under the Democratic city administration there. Many independent voters who are favorable to the candidacy of the Democratic nominees for Supreme Court Justice on the Hearst Democratic ticket are so disgusted with this trick of the Hearst leaders that they will vote the entire Republican ticket.

The ticket will bear the emblem of President Roosevelt, a big stick, and the petition must be signed by 1,000 voters and filed with the Secretary of State and county clerk of Westchester by October 17. So far all the signatures have been Hearst men. Not a single Republican will allow his name to appear upon it and it is said that President Roosevelt knows absolutely nothing about it.

IN A MUDDLE OVER HEARST.

Is Inmate as to Which Faction Shall Entertain the Candidate in Owego.

OWEGO, Oct. 13.—Democrats in this city are in a muddle over which faction shall entertain William Randolph Hearst when he speaks here next Tuesday. Arrangements have been made by State Committeeman Charles N. Bulger, leader of the regular Democracy, for a big mass meeting at Richardson Theatre, and the Independence League organization has been left out in the cold.

HEARST'S TREASON.

Job Hodges Recalls the Time When Hearst Suggested Assassination.

UTICA, Oct. 13.—At Seneca Falls last night Job Hodges impressed the 500 working people who heard him with the following striking comment on one of Hearst's denunciatory utterances. He said:

Now he (Hearst) has had some pretty strenuous things to say about certain people, but he said one thing that must never be forgotten, and it is permitted to continue my remarks during this campaign, everything being chargeable to me, I wish you to listen carefully to what I say. Some years ago, in the very city in which he was compelled to change his politics, Hearst was compelled to change the name of his paper from The Journal to The American, as if there were something in the past of that paper which was not wholesome and right and decent. This is what he said at one time in his paper when he was speaking of the President of the United States. I do not wish to interpret an unfair element into a political controversy, but to ask yes this question: That if this incident in Journalism could happen, what cannot happen to the declarations of a man as to his intended plans and as to his ability to represent the moral and political progress of this State. He was referring to Mr. McKinley and said:

"He is an object, weak, incompetent politician. Did not the murder of Lincoln, uniting in sympathy the regard of all good people in the North and South, hasten the era of American good feeling and preserve the renewal of fighting between brothers. Institutions, like men, last until they die, and if bad institutions, like bad men, can be got rid of only by killing them, the killing must be done."

"I tell you, good friends," said Mr. Hodges, as a silence fell over the house, "and I speak as if they were the last words I would be privileged to utter, that I do not treasure my father died in vain at Petersburg."

An intense silence held the audience for a moment, then it rose in a great cheer.

Veteran Democrat Boils Hearst.

OWEGO, Oct. 13.—In a letter to the Daily Times, to-day, Ross L. Simmons of Mexico, N. Y., one of the most prominent Democratic lawyers in Owego county, bolts the Hearst ticket and offers his support to Hughes.

"I am compelled to vote the Republican ticket," he says, "because I find the Democratic party, whose principles I have advocated for twenty-five years, controlled by the riffraff of its ranks, sold to demagogues whose impudent usurpation of the Buffalo convention leaves the Democracy of the State but a shell of its political life."

Humphreys' Seventy-Seven Cures Grip and Colds

"There's nothing so tad for a Cough as Coughing." Coughing is like scratching a wound; so long as it is done, it will not heal. When tempted to Cough, draw a long breath through the nostrils; hold it until it warms the air cells. The nitrogen thus refined, allays the desire to Cough and gives the throat and lungs a chance to heal. The use of "Seventy-seven" will aid nature in her efforts to recuperate.
